

Base64Decode

This function returns the decrypted data from base64 representation of the encrypted block

This function is deprecated. This means that its use is discouraged and that it might not exist in future versions.

Please use decodeString instead.

Syntax

```
string base64Decode(string data)
```

Required arguments

- data: The block of data you want to decrypt

Returns

Returns the decrypted data from base64 representation of the encrypted block if the decryption process was successfully completed, false otherwise.