

OnClientElementModelChange

This event is triggered when the model of an element is changed using `setElementModel`.

Parameters

`int oldModel`, `int newModel`

- oldModel: an int representing the model of the element before the change occurred.
- newModel: an int representing the new model of the element.

Source

The source of this event is the element that changed its model.

Cancel effect

This event doesn't support cancellation. Use `setElementModel` with the old value to reverse.