

GetGravity

This function returns the current gravity level for the context in which it is called (server or client).

Syntax

```
float getGravity()
```

Returns

Returns a float with the current server or client (depending on where you call the function) gravity level.