

Base64Encode

This function returns the base64 representation of the encoded block of data

This function is deprecated. This means that its use is discouraged and that it might not exist in future versions.

Please use encodeString instead.

Syntax

string base64Encode ( string data )
```

Required arguments

- data: The block of data you want to encode

Returns

Returns the base64 representation of the encoded data if the encoding process was successfully completed, false otherwise.
