

OnClientElementInteriorChange

This event is triggered when the interior of an element is changed using `setElementInterior`.

Parameters

`int oldInterior`, `int newInterior`

- oldInterior: An int representing the interior the element was in before.
- newInterior: An int representing the interior the element is in now.

Source

The source of this event is the element that changed its interior.